“This album is the trials and tribulations of becoming domesticated, letting people into your world.”

The most common tactile hallucination is feeling like something is crawling under or on the skin, known as formication.